13:30 – 14:55	SESSION 2 – ADAPTING FOR AGILITY: ALIGNING PENSION FUND REGULATIONS WITH EVOLVING ALTERNATIVE INVESTMENT MARKETS
	As Africa's alternative investment markets—spanning private equity, infrastructure, private credit, and venture capital—continue to mature, pension funds remain underexposed due to legacy regulatory constraints and risk-averse allocation mandates. This session will explore how pension regulations can evolve to promote diversification, local capital mobilization, and long-term value creation. Panellists will examine practical reforms, governance structures, and global examples that can inform a balanced, forward-looking approach for African markets. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What are the main hurdles preventing pension funds from allocating more capital to alternatives — including regulatory, governance, and capacity constraints? • What is the current level of African pension fund investment in alternative assets, and how is this evolving across the continent? • To what extent can regulators align capital preservation requirements with the need for higher-return, long-term investments in alternatives? Are current regulations truly “fit for purpose” to enable both economic development and sustainable portfolio growth? • How can regulatory harmonization across African pension and investment regimes help facilitate larger, more efficient cross-border capital flows? • As demographics shift, inflation risks persist, and geopolitical uncertainty rises, how should African pension regulators and trustees reframe their long-term strategies to ensure resilience and growth? Moderator: Faraz Rojid, Chief Executive Officer, Mauritius Finance Panellists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Nazlie Seegers, Chief Experience Officer, Salt Employee Benefits, South Africa • Faith Tabibu, Senior Investments Officer, Private Equity, Kenya Power Pension Fund, Kenya

15:30 – 17:00	SESSION 3 – SUSTAINABLE INVESTING REASSESSED: INTEGRATING ESG, SDGs AND LONG-TERM VALUE CREATION Recent shifts in global policy and market sentiment have brought ESG and impact investing under renewed scrutiny. As sustainable investing matures, institutional investors are reassessing how ESG and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) translate into real-world outcomes, resilience, and long-term value creation. This session explores the evolution from values-based screening toward performance-driven, outcomes-focused investment strategies. Panellists will examine practical approaches to integrating ESG and SDG alignment into asset allocation, the role of credible data and regulation, and how sustainability frameworks can remain relevant to African development priorities. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In the face of shifting regulation, geopolitical pushback, and changing stakeholder expectations, how should institutional investors rethink the purpose and positioning of ESG and SDG-aligned investing? • Which approaches are most effective in embedding ESG and SDG considerations across asset classes—particularly private markets and alternatives? • What principles or frameworks best tailor ESG and SDG strategies to Africa's priorities, including jobs, inclusion, climate resilience, and infrastructure? • How are international and regional regulatory developments—such as ISSB standards or the EU's SFDR—reshaping disclosure practices, risk management, and investor behaviour? • Are we seeing a shift from ESG screening toward measurable impact and SDG outcomes? What capabilities, data systems, and governance structures do institutional investors need to support this transition? Moderator: Samira Mensah, Managing Director Research & Analytics Africa, S&P Global Panellists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Umulinga Karangwa, Chief Investment Officer -ESATAL • Mitesh Pema, Fund Principal, Mahlako • Margaret Wanjiru Kirima, Board Member, BATSETA Council of Retirement Funds for South Africa • Saurav Chatterjee, Director & Chief Executive Officer, Care Edge Ratings
